

ARVANA APPLIES FOR QUOTATION ON THE OTCQB VENTURE MARKET

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 21, 2024, Arvana Inc. (OTC: AVNI) is pleased to announce that it has filed its application for quotation on the OTCQB Venture Market. The move is intended to enhance stockholder value and increase the visibility of Arvana within the investment community.

The decision to move Arvana's quotation from the OTC Pink Sheets to the OTCQB Venture Market comes after an evaluation of our growth strategy, in line with our ongoing commitment to maintain the high financial standards, corporate governance standards, and compliance requirements set by the OTCQB Venture Market. Arvana is dedicated to the application of these principles in its business and believes that trading on the OTCQB Venture Market will better reflect that commitment.

"Our team has been working diligently to ensure that Arvana meets or exceeds the stringent requirements for moving Arvana's quotation to the OTCQB," said Ruairidh Campbell, Arvana's Chief Executive Officer. "We are confident that this transition will open new doors for our company, including increased access to institutional investors, enhanced liquidity for our stockholders, and provide a stronger platform from which to enable corporate growth."

The OTCQB Venture Market is recognized for providing a strong foundation of transparency, reporting standards, and compliance oversight. Quotation on the OTCQB offers entrepreneurial and development stage companies the opportunity to increase visibility and credibility within the investment community, which in turn can help attract a broader base of investors to our business.

Arvana is excited about the prospective benefits of quotation on the OTCQB Venture Market and looks forward to keeping its stockholders informed of its progress throughout the application process.
